Company Overview

Sadra Trading Company entered the global market to supply the world with high quality gilsonite. This company strives to use the international standards in its production to achieve its ultimate goal, maximum customer trust and satisfaction. Benefiting from different equipped mines with modern machinery, and experienced engineers, Sadra Trading Company provides the raw materials needed for the highest quality production. This company maintains quality control based on the international standards, ISO / IEC 17025. We export gilsonite to many countries around the world, and we are one of the top manufacturers of this product in the globe.

Business description

Gilsonite, results from the final distillation of crude oil in the oil refinery process. It can also be obtained through the natural distillation of crude oil over many years, which makes this type of gilsonite much more durable. This substance is mainly made from carbon, and is found in abundance in the Middle East, one of the best centers for buying and selling quality gilsonite. Among the advantages that the mines in this region provide are the low price, high quality, large production, stabilized sales market, and the large variety of their gilsonite. One of the factors influencing the price of this product is the price of oil. Other factors that determine the price of this product include, the condition and the location of the mine, as well as the method of production.
